NATURALLY I was quite curious about the display of gowns and hats that my card announced was being sponsored by Mrs. Lloyd Hixon and Mrs. George Harrison in the home of the former in West Woodruff.—The Lyman Spitzer house, you know, which the Hixons have taken during the Spitzers year in Europe.

Altho the sale lasted from Wednesday until Saturday, I, of course, chose the most miserable rainy day, and arrived in a perfect drizzle. However, I soon saw that the weather had nothing to do with it, because, well, my dear, everybody was there or had just left. Dolly was modelling the gowns herself and a representative of the millionary firm was blocking hats on her charming customers. That's really quite a feat and I stayed so long in admiration of this, to me, fascinating art, that when I glanced at my watch, (incidentally, have you seen the beauties some of the girls have brought back from Switzerland this summer) I found I simply couldn't stay to tea, which was quite a delightful innovation, I thought, for a shopping tour,—as I was going on to Mrs. Radcliff's. There, with her usual charming hospitality, she was entertaining the matrons and dowagers.

WITH the jeunes filles, the arrival of Helen Lomasney's guest, Miss Martha Brooks of Pittsburgh, was the signal for numerous gay affairs, among them being Helen's luncheon in her home.

SEATED at beautifully appointed tables were the guest of honor, Cordelia Foster, Thelma Ulsh, Dorothy Foote, Hilda Grosh, Suzanne Cady, Josephine Randolph, Katherine Harrison, Eleanor Minneger, Mary Campbell, Mrs. Barnes Walbridge and the hostess, Cordelia Foster, who spent the summer in Europe with the Horton Roricks, entertained with a bridge tea later in the week for Miss Brooks and Eleanor Minneger was hostess at a luncheon.

WE turned out en masse to hear Will Rogers at the Coliseum. He is screamingly funny, isn't he? Bobby Burns would have considered him an answer to his prayer for he certainly has the power to make us see ourselves as others see us. I noticed in one box, Mr. and Mrs. Sinclair Walbridge, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Kinsey, Mrs. Barnes Walbridge, Mrs. Walter Sherman and Mr. Cornell Walbridge. Among others noticed in the audience were Mr. Sidney Spitzer and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Logan.

SHADES of the Collingwood! Can you imagine the Bachelor's Ball being held under another roof? And yet, the committee in charge has decided that the Madison Gardens will be the scene this year of that out-standing social event of the winter. It has not been announced what form it's masque will take, I know only that the music will be the same that will play all that week at the Gardens, and the management is trying to procure one of the country's most famous orchestras.

A PERFECT day, a jolly crowd, the crimson and gold of autumn, a wonderful drive, the blare of the band on Ferry Field and the Michigan-Navy game was on. Motoring up from Toledo were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rorick, Mr. and Mrs. Ceilan Rorick, Mr. and Mrs. Avery Wright, Mr. and Mrs. James Secor, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Baumgardner, Mr. and Mrs. Pennell Hixon and others.

NOW that the time is approaching when "winter nights enlarge," I am looking forward to more formal affairs.

LAST Saturday afternoon I went out to the Ottawa Hills Riding Club and "rode to hounds." Sounds well, doesn't it? That's certainly a great sport and I am so glad that the music of the winding horn has reached here. I have visions of hunt breakfasts before long. Why, all my friends down east have been doing it for years, and as far as I'm concerned, the hunt will have just as much to do with making Toledo a "big town" as the bond issue, nobody apparently knew anything about.

IT'S a far cry from bond issues to the Charleston, but have you been able to master it yet? I admit that I am weary with trying. There were several of us at the Country Club Wednesday night, and after a lot of practise, I realized that at the rate at which I am progressing, if I do become an adept, the fad will be over. Oh well, if Parker Campbell can't do it, why should I try?

SOCIETY

TO say that I am on the qui vive about these Christmas parties, is to put it mildly. I think we all get rather enthused, though, don't you, because our holiday season is by far our gayest. We seem to flare up for a few surprisingly short weeks, to die down to a quiet January. I wish we could in some way throw off the pall of inertia that seems to hold us throughout the year, and have a little of it; to have a lasting supply of combined peace and charity, good-will and social activities upon which to draw. As a solution, I would suggest the formation of a Junior League.

But to return to the parties, soon after the arrival of those who are at the eastern schools and colleges, the formal mid-winter affairs will begin. The first is the Beta Kappa Upsilon at the Woman's Building on December twenty-third, and on the same night, the Empty Six and Delta Phi fraternities will exert their combined efforts to make their dance at the Chamber of Commerce, a merry one. The Alpha Kappa Phi fraternity party on Christmas night will be followed by the most brilliant event of the winter, the Bachelor's Ball, at the Madison Gardens, December twenty-eighth. The Phi Alpha Sigma dance is arranged for December twenty-ninth at Inverness. The Toledo Club and the Secor, will as usual, be at their gayest on New Year's Eve.

I WISH I could have made it, during the past month, and gone down for the Yale-Princeton game, or for Thanksgiving, for to tell the truth, I wouldn't have needed half an excuse. There was a jolly crowd of the younger married set at New Haven together. Others who went east for the holiday were Mr. and Mrs. George Ross Ford, Mrs. Harry Hutchinson, and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Knight and Betty. Speaking of Betty, reminds me of the day she rode so proudly off the field at the Horse Show last June, one of the tiniest entrants to win a ribbon.

Did you meet Frances Malone, of Louisville, Ky., who was here in charge of the Brainard Lemon collection of silver which was shown at the Mohr Art Galleries? She was one of Toledo's most charming visitors.

Henry Page, who you remember, was a popular Miltimore Bachelor, who answered the call of the wild (real estate men) from Florida, was also here for a few days.

AMONG the important announcements of the season is that of the engagement of Hilda, the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Grosh, to Lewis Bentley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bentley, and that of Gratia Katherine, the daughter of Mrs. Frank Harrison, to Arthur Lorenz Baker, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur E. Baker. In honor of his sister and her fiance, Dick Harrison was host at a dinner at the Club. The marriage of Kathryn Eloise, the daughter of Mr. Ernest Hastings Carpenter, of Jerome, Mich., to Robert Spencer Carr, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Clifton Carr has also been announced. After the first of the year, Mr. and Mrs. Carr will be at home in Orlando, Fla.

I spent a delightful afternoon on December second, when Mrs. Frank C. Hoehler and Alice opened their home on Robinwood avenue to their friends. At this handsome affair the hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Thomas Bentley, Mrs. Aaron Chesbrough, Mrs. C. O. Mininger, Mrs. William C. Carr, Mrs. R. H. Scribner, Mrs. C. N. Bellman, Mrs. Harry Jenson, Virginia Falconer, Josie Bissell, Eleanor Mininger, Beth Ross, and Mary Campbell.

Club. Following a number of brave attempts at after-dinner speeches, Buz Meredith tuned in on W. W. J.

I am looking forward with eagerness to the day after Christmas when the Yale Banjo and Glee Clubs will be here. That noon, the members of the Yale Club of Toledo will be host to the visitors at a buffet luncheon at the University Club. Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Knight will give a dansant at the Toledo Club, and the concert, which will be given that evening, will be held in Scott High Auditorium. Arrangements are being made for a party following the concert. The committee in charge, William Baker, chairman, and Arthur Lorenz Baker, A. B. Newell, George Greenhalgh, Aaron Kelsey and James Secor, assures its success.

We shall miss Gertrude Witker when she leaves, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Witker, in January, for an extended stay in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry McKisson entertained a group of their friends with an attractive dinner in their home in Rob-wood avenue.

Mrs. Justice Wilson was hostess to the members of her bridge club in her up-river home. Her guests included Mrs. Thomas Goodbody, Mrs. Raymond P. Lipe, Mrs. George Rheinfank, Miss Florence Walding, Mrs. W. K. Terry and Mrs. Carl Spitzer.

I am sure that Helen Mascho's tea dance on Monday afternoon, December twenty-first, will be one of the most delightful of the Christmas parties, coming as it does, at the time when the schools have just let out.

Of great interest to the younger set was the recent announcement of the engagement of Helen Lomasney, daughter of Mrs. William H. Heywood, to William Nagel, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Nagel.

One of the most attractive of the many New Year's Eve parties will be held in the University Club for members and their guests. The committee in charge is making some elaborate arrangements and the affair is certain to be a gay and delightful one.

IT begins to look as if winter were really here, doesn't it?

If this crisp weather continues, we may plan on some more of those coasting parties out at Bolles Harbor, that have been so popular the last couple of years.

Last but not least is the sale of Christmas seals of which Mrs. Rufus Manning is general chairman and Mrs. Barnes Although I didn't do my Christmas shopping early this year, as I had planned, I find that I can manage a few days a week for selling seals, and it seems to give me more of the Christmas spirit, to do it. Before my next letter, Christmas will have come and gone, so, although it is a little early, I am wishing you all a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

MARCH, that month of wind and snow, finds a large number of Toledoans sojourning in winter resorts, as well as travelling abroad, with a goodly number continuing to depart. Ocean voyages seem to be particularly in favor this winter and among those sailing are Mrs. Robert Pew and daughter, Katherine, Mrs. Arthur T. Bell and father, Mr. S. O. Richardson, Jr. who are taking Mediterranean cruises, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tracy who sail for a two months trip thru South America, Mr. and Mrs. James Montgomery Acklin who are taking a West Indies cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. Leland Gardner of New York City, formerly of Toledo, are in Cairo, Egypt from whence they will return to Cannes, France where the Gardners and children are occupying an apartment this winter.

Mr. Alfred Koch sailed the first of February for Italy where he will join Mrs. Koch and their son, who are spending the winter in Florence. Mr. and Mrs. Koch plan to travel thru Egypt and the Holy Land before returning to Toledo in April.

Of interest to the many friends of Mrs. Stanley Woodward, formerly Sarah Rutherford of Toledo, is Mr. Woodward's recent appointment as American Consul to Spain. They leave Washington the first of the month for Geneva where they will take up their residence temporarily. Katherine Pew, who is travelling abroad with her mother, expects to visit Sarah in Geneva, in June, after they leave Norway, where they expect to be during the Midnight Sun.

WE hear that Dorothy Estill, who is spending the winter in Palm Beach with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. E. B. Estill, is having a perfectly glorious time and that she is often seen dancing at the Everglades. No doubt Esther Hackedorn and Madelyn Haggerty, who have recently gone to Palm Beach to visit Margaret Weddock, will likewise receive their share of popularity as these three make an attractive trio any place.

Miss Josephine and Katherine Randolph left the latter part of February for Fort Sattersdale with their father, Dr.

O. B. Randolph. They expect to spend some time in Palm Beach and Pinehurst before returning to Toledo.

While our social life at home is by no means as gay as it was a few months ago, still we seem to have the happy faculty of keeping pretty busy. Of great popularity among the young maids and matrons are "ladies days" in the Toledo Club's new swimming pool and Gymnasium, and judging from the religious way we all attend classes, our southern sisters are not going to be far ahead of us in new dives and swimming strokes. One point only do we concede—a coat of tan.

AS a farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Avery Wright, who are moving to Columbus, and Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rorick, who have left for Palm Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Robinson entertained at a "Surprise party" at their home in the Harold Arms.

Of usual interest to all motor enthusiasts was the Eighteenth Auto Show, held this year during the second week in February in the new Civic Center Garage, which had been beautifully decorated for the occasion with orange trees an smilax.

We were indeed sorry to see Mr. and Mrs. George Harrison move away from Toledo. Mary and George are both very popular members of the young married set but it is again "the call of the south" and they will make their home in Florida.

Mrs. A. E. Reuben was in charge of an attractive tea and musical recently given at the Park Lane Hotel for the benefit of the Collingwood Avenue Presbyterian Church building fund. Our admiration certainly goes out to this young matron for her zealous and untiring work in this church building campaign.

ONE of the most popular young visitors to Toledo in February was Miss Virginia Falconer's guest, Miss Joan Tolsiee of Saginaw, Michigan, for whom many delightful affairs were arranged.

On February 11th, Katherine Harrison and Lorenz Baker motored over to Detroit to attend the wedding of Miss Dorothy Page to John Alden Blanchard. "Bliss" who is a college friend of "Tootie's," has often visited in the Baker home and numbers many Toledoans among his friends. By the way, it begins to look as though Spring this year is going to bring forth a bevy of lovely brides. We hear that "K" and "Tootie" will be married in April, likewise Louis Bentley and Hilda Grosh, who has recently returned from New York where she and her mother have no doubt been purchasing the trousseau finery.

Among the June weddings will be that of Helen Lomasney to William Nagel, also Dorothy Foote to Bill Carr. The recent engagement of Alice, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Henry Gasser, to Trowbridge Hull Stanley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Joseph Stanley which was announced at a bridge party given by Miss Irene Broer in her home on Parkwood Avenue, adds one more probable June bride to our list. So we begin to look forward to a very gay time this Spring with luncheons and dinners galore, as all of these prospective brides are very popular members of the younger set.

APRIL ushers in the open season for brides, and many of Toledo's favorite daughters will be wedded to fortunate Toledo sons before fall.

There are a number of interesting April weddings. Ada Helene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse William Young, will be the first to change her name, April 6 being the date chosen for her marriage to Taylor Smith.

Hilda Grosh and Lewis Bentley are next, and April 10 will see the launching of their matrimonial bark.

The many friends of Beth Ross and Malcolm Fraser will be interested in the announcement that Miss Ross has chosen April 24 as her wedding date. The ceremony will take place at high noon in the Parkwood Avenue home of the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Campbell Ross, and will be witnessed by the immediate families and a few close friends.

Katherine Harrison and Arthur Lorenz Baker close the book whose pages hold the important April marriages. Their wedding promises to be one of the most beautiful of the season.

The majority of other interesting nuptials are planned for June, Virginia Rheinfrank being the first to announce a definite date. She has chosen June 16 as the day for her marriage to Dr. Norman Kenneth Foley.

Margaret Clapp and Donald Crandell will also be married in June, which means that Toledo will lose a very popular young couple. Don, who will be graduated from Annapolis in June, is still indefinite as to where he will be stationed, but latest tentative plans seem to point to San Francisco as the elected post.

There will be many other weddings of social significance during the month of brides, the dates to be announced later. May is destined to be a hectic whirl of showers, bridges, and dinners in honor of the numerous charming bride-elects and their fiancés.

The marriage of Dorothy Woodford and Joseph Mather, Jr., announced March 4, came as a surprise to their friends. The ceremony was solemnized February 16, but the young couple waited to make the news known until after the return of Mr. Mather's parents and sister Miss Lucy, who spent the winter in Tucson, Arizona.

There is much interest in the recent announcement of the engagement of Miss Helen Tillotson to Mr. Linton Henry Fallis. Miss Tillotson has brought fame to herself and Toledo by her brilliant record in sports. We have no doubt that her drive onto the matrimonial green in June will be as successful as some we have watched her make at Inverness.

The last of March and first of April finds members of Toledo society in a state of transition, many returning from southern resorts, and others leaving for school again after a short Spring vacation.

Virginia Secor, after attending the Princeton Prom, March 18, left for Toledo March 25 to spend the Easter vacation a member of some school whose Easter recess doesn't think of beginning until the second of the month of showers. Might we suggest a concentrated attack against such oppression and the organization of a society for "Easter Vacations AT Easter?"

The Easter season always brings with it thoughts of service—and spring clothes. Toledo women this year, interested in swelling the coffers of their churches, decided to capitalize on the feminine thrill at selecting the Easter wardrobe, and to make this trait of our sex the means of a Lenten service.

Attendance at the series of luncheons given by the women of the Collingwood Avenue Presbyterian Church on March 2, 3, 4 and 5, was made almost imperative after the word had been passed around that the very latest creations from Lasalle and Koch's were to be displayed by attractive members of the church. Each day found the beautifully appointed tables filled, and the many members of Toledo society who were privileged to see the fashion display will testify to the attractive manner in which Mrs. Richard Patterson, Mrs. Donald Hagamaster, Mrs. A. E. Reuben and Mrs. Grace Montgomery Bean exhibited Milady's spring wardrobe.

The luncheons were given in the Grand Avenue home of Mrs. Frank Collins.

The combination of Vogue models and Toledo society women proved irresistible to Mrs. Toledo and her daughters, and they flocked en masse to Lasalle and Koch's on March 15 and 16, to see the society mannequins parade in selections from the current mode. The fashion show was for the benefit of St. Mark's Service League and was another example of Lenten activity which combined social interest with charity. Those modelling were Mrs. Carleton Baumgardner, Mrs. William Baker, Mrs. Sinclair Walbridge, Mrs. Phelps Berdan, Mrs. Frank Stuart Lewis, Mrs. Barnes Walbridge, and the misses Mary Campbell, Dorothy Foote, Helen Lomasney and Jane Spitzer.

The Annual Reciprocity Day Luncheon, which is a gathering of Toledo's Club Clan, brought together on March 6, more than three hundred and fifty club women of the city to listen to Mr. Charles Crawford Gorst, distinguished naturalist and birdman give his reported repertoire of two hundred bird calls. Mrs. George Grant Morrison and Mrs. Robert Witchner had charge of the attractive arrangements.

Mr. A. L. Spitzer who spent some weeks in New Orleans is back with us again. This popular host and well loved Toledoan will tarry a few weeks before leaving for his annual European sojourn. It is always with reluctance that Toledo society bids him adieu, for he is famed for his frequent and distinctive entertainments.

St. Patrick's day was fittingly celebrated with a smart bridge luncheon at Carranor Hunt and Polo Club, a dinner and dance at the Toledo Club and the Salesian Club dinner dance at the Hotel Secor.

And after Easter, what? Spring surely, and a renewed interest in life out of doors.

The suburban clubs soon will be getting dressed up for spring openings and a season of activity. Carranor with its riding and polo, Ottawa Hills Riding Club with its hunts and hounds, and the various golf clubs with their greens and other attractive features will lure Toledoans out into the open.

Come on Spring—We are ready for you!

SOCIETY

By Sally Ames

APRIL was a month of showers for popular brides-elect. There were few days unfilled with complimentary bridge luncheons, teas, or dinners, so greatly has the marriage epidemic spread in our younger set. We have already lost Hilda Grosh, Beth Ross, Helene Young, Catherine Coldham and Katharine Harrison from our ranks of unwed sisters, and in June we must also bid adieu to Dorothy Foote, Helen Lomasney, Peg Clapp, Jane Truesdall. If there were numerous entertainments in April, there will be more in May, and Toledo society is teeing and dancing with "Here comes the Bride" ringing in its ears. Truly there will be a resounding thud back to earth after the last canopy has been taken down, and the final bridal bouquet thrown to some lucky damsel. Golf and riding will be poor substitutes, but with good weather upon us, altar greens soon fade from the mind, and flag-decked greens usurp their place.

MARGARET Law, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Clapp, has chosen Tuesday, June 8, as the date of her marriage to Donald Crandall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Crandall. The marriage will be solemnized in the Unitarian Church at seven-thirty, Tuesday evening, Doctor Horace Westwood officiating. Miss Clapp will have as her only attendant her sister, Miss Katharine Clapp. Mr. Hayes Meyers will be Mr. Crandall's best man. The ceremony will be followed by a reception in the Clapp home in West Woodruff Avenue for a limited number of guests. The young couple will leave immediately for Seattle, Washington, to make their home. The bridegroom, who will be graduated from Annapolis, will receive his ensignship in June, and take up his duties on the Flagship California of the Pacific Fleet, which is stationed at Puget Sound.

MISS DOROTHY ESTILL
Who has returned to Toledo after seven months at Palm Beach.

ANOTHER wedding of much interest will be that of Jane Truesdall to Orville Leslie Jones, of Wallace, Idaho. The ceremony will take place Wednesday evening, June 16, at half after eight. Miss Katharine Truesdall will be her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Josephine Randolph, Mrs. Horace Byington, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, Miss Jean Alexander, of Aurora, Illinois, and Mrs. Martin Below, of Evanston, Illinois. A reception at the Toledo Club will follow the wedding. The young couple will leave for Wallace, Idaho, where they will reside. Toledo society is unfortunate in losing so many of her popular members.

THE marriage of Hilda Grosh and Lewis Bentley was solemnized April 10, and was the first large wedding in April. Beautiful appointments marked the church ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the home of the bride's parents. Mr. Bentley and his bride left for New York after the ceremony, sailing from there for Europe.

MISS JANE TRUESDALL

Who is announcing her wedding date in this issue.

Katharine Harrison made an impressive splash into the matrimonial seas, April 28, when her marriage to Arthur Lorenz Baker was solemnized.

Trinity Church was a lovely setting for the nuptials, and the color scheme and gowns, as well as the youthful beauty of the bride, made the ceremony one of unusual charm. A large reception at the Country Club followed the church service.

April's pages are filled with charmingly simple marriages. Josephine Sweers, who became Mrs. Arthur Hoehler, April 3, is given first place, the wedding coming as a complete surprise to the friends of this attractive couple.

The marriage of Helene Young to Taylor Smith was a quiet event of April 6.

Catherine Coldham became the bride of Joseph Starr Riegel, April 17.

Beth Ross and Malcolm Fraser were married April 24, the ceremony being one of lovely simplicity.

Lent ended in a blaze of glory with a beautiful Easter day—and an important engagement announcement. The many friends of the popular pair had been suspicious for some time, but the first formal announcement of the engagement of Thelma Ulsh to John Hinde was made at an attractive bridge tea given by Miss Pauline Ulsh, Saturday, April 3.

Toledo society is due to lose two attractive bachelors, as announcement was made recently of the engagements of Stanley and John Mauk.

Miss Alice Emery Robert, of Holyoke, Massachusetts, will be the bride of Mr. Stanley Mauk, and Miss Elsbeth Young, of Seattle, Washington, is to be Mrs. John Mauk.

It is certain, however, that in losing our bachelors, we are gaining two very charming additions to our young matron circle.

And so, having dispensed with brides and brides-elect, we turn to other social events of the past days.

THE tea-dansant given March 31 in honor of Dartmouth's Musical Clubs, was the first pretentious entertainment of the season for Toledo's younger set. Such a brilliant assemblage of frocks and wide trousers was a treat to the eyes, as well as excellent social copy. Expectant young misses were dubious for a short time that the guests of honor would arrive, but after the young men in question had slept of the effects of a hard night's journey, they arrived en masse, and were well worth waiting for.

The concert in the evening was followed by dancing, and we are willing to speculate that at the end of their current trip, there were some worn-out "Dartmouthians."

THE Carranor Circus, April 9, was a huge success, and many members of Toledo society displayed latent talents as bareback riders, clowns, dancing girls and animal trainers. There were ring masters with ferocious black moustaches who looked quite sinister enough to frighten the girlishly appealing trapeze artists. There were merry Totos and gay Pierrots, as well as fair Columbins. With the success of their circus a proud achievement, we wonder that Carranor does not attempt an old-fashioned western rodeo. With Toledo's expert riders, and the excellent horses Captain Bentley brought back with him from England, it should be a gala affair.

We are at last becoming truly cosmopolitan, for Toledo has adopted the fashionable treasure hunt, sponsored by England, and taken up with fervor by our own land of liberties. The University Club was responsible for the introduction of this fad in Toledo, and on Saturday evening, April 17, a very successful hunt was begun and ended in the Club house on Collingwood Avenue. After many hours of cross-country scouting, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Beatty discovered the cash treasure in the pocket of a chandelier in the club's drawing room.

POLAND and Pilsudski—Italy and Moussolini—The Norge and the North Pole—Toledo and its June brides! We have every reason to emphasize June and brides this season, for the charming bride-elect assemblage which Toledo boasts, deserves more than usual attention. The young "deb" circle is losing many of its most popular members, with Dorothy Foote, Helen Lomasney, Virginia Rheinfrank, Jane Truesdall, and Margaret Clapp stepping into the young matron clan this month.

For those who keep a wedding calendar, the following dates should be marked in red ink—June 2, Miss Helen Tillotson will be married to Mr. Linton Fallis; June 8, Margaret Clapp to Donald Crandall. June 16 should be checked twice, as it holds two important weddings. Jane Truesdall will be married to Orville Leslie Jones, and Virginia Rheinfrank will become the bride of Dr. Norman Foley. June 19 is the date of the Helen Lomasney-William Nagel nuptials and Dorothy Foote's marriage to William Carr on June 23 will end the month's wedding whirl.

MISS Foote has chosen for her attendants Mrs. Arthur Lorenz Baker as Matron of Honor, and Miss Ethel Rathbun, of Easton, Pennsylvania, as maid of honor. Her bridesmaids will be Miss Martha Bergin, Miss Elaine Scott, of Springfield, Ill., Miss Nelle Rathbun, of Easton, Pennsylvania, Miss Katherine Bovard, Miss Cordelia Foster, and Miss Betty Carr. Mr. Richard Carr will attend his brother as best man. The ushers will be Messrs. Richard Foote, Carter Stewart, Harold Cook, Walter Lathrop, Gerald Baker, William Draper, Russell Scribner, Harold Goodbody, William Knight, and James Bell. The marriage will be solemnized at 8:30 in the St. Mark's Church. Rev. Harold Hohly, of Columbus, a cousin of the bride, will officiate, assisted by Rev. Eugene Pierce, the rector of St. Mark's. The ceremony will be followed by a reception at 3015 Collingwood Avenue.

Virginia Rheinfrank will have as her only attendants Miss Eleanor Pew and Miss Katherine Oeschler. Mida Louise Koehler, niece of the bridegroom, will be the flower girl. Dr. La Mott Bates, of Durant, Michigan, will be Dr. Foley's best man. The marriage will be solemnized in the Perrysburg home of the bride, and will be witnessed by a limited number of guests.

MISS HELENE LIPE,
who returns this month from the Knox School.

THE Scottwood Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. William Herbert Heywood will be a lovely setting for the marriage of their daughter Helen, to Mr. William Nagel. Miss Lomasney will have for her maid-of-honor, Miss Esther Cochran, of Youngstown. Her brides-maids will be the Misses Betty Hitchcock and Mary Sampson, of Youngstown, Miss Martha Brooks, of Pittsburgh, and the Misses Virginia Secor, Carolyn Nagel, Dorothy Foote, and Mrs. Phelps Berdan. Caroline Heywood, small sister of the bride, will be the flower girl. John Berdan will attend Mr. Nagel as best man. The ushers will be Messrs. David Lomasney, Myron Lomasney, Carter Stewart, Harold Cook, Walter Lathrop, James Bell, Wm. Carr, and Phelps Berdan.

The popular Mary Campbell couldn't hold out in the face of the engagement and marriage epidemic which is spreading so rapidly in Toledo's younger set. The announcement of her engagement to John Kiscadden made formally at the buffet supper at the Country Club given by Miss Campbell for Dorothy Foote and Bill Carr, and Helen Lomasney and Bill Nagel came as a surprise to those who hadn't been seeing the newly engaged pair together. No date has been set as yet for the wedding.

Woodbury. The ceremony, which was solemnized May 29, in the Ashland Avenue Baptist Church, was one of great beauty. Mr. and Mrs. Woodbury will reside in Toledo.

THE Toledo Horse Show this year promises to be one of more than civic importance, as horses from all parts of the country have been entered. Toledo long has been proud of its excellent riders and thoroughbreds, and Society is looking forward to an impressive exhibition.

Ottawa Hills Riding Club and the Carranor Hunt and Polo Clubs are joining forces in making arrangements, which doubly assures the success of the affair. Donald Acklin is general chairman, and will be assisted by Mrs. Ward Canaday and Mrs. George McKesson in charge of programs; Mrs. George Greenhalgh, prize chairman; Mrs. A. E. Reuben, in charge of boxes; Mrs. Robert Stranahan, Entertainment chairman, and W. E. Bettridge.

Members of the general horse show committee are Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Spitzer, Mr. George Greenhalgh, Mrs. Walter Eversman, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Marshall, Messrs Frank Stranahan, Ward Canaday, O. E. Kilbourn, George McKesson, A. E. Reuben, Kenyon Vance, Pratt Tracy, C. F. Medaris, Zale Reuben, Harry Collin, W. L. Ross, L. G. Peed, C. O. Miniger, and Harold Reuben.

THERE were many attractive entertainments for Miss Helen Innes of Simcoe, Canada, during her stay with her cousin, Miss Marian Nelles. Miss Innes was the honored guest at Miss Jane Richmond's afternoon of bridge, Miss Virginia Feilbach's bridge luncheon at Inverness, Miss Alice Hoehler's luncheon at the Park Lane, and Miss Virginia Falconer's informal picnic at Falconwood.

Miss Marjorie Cornet, of St. Louis, who was the guest of Mrs. Marvin Rorick, was another charming May visitor. Mrs. Paul Prudden's luncheon in her home in Scottwood Avenue was one of the several entertainments for Miss Cornet.

THE middle of June sees the beginning of the summer exodus and many prominent Toledoans are making their plans for leaving the home shores to seek cooler and more active spots. Some prefer Europe, others New England and the invigorating air of the mountain—while a few choose to enjoy the attractions which our Lotus city offers. For those who desire swimming sans sunburn, the Toledo Club pool is heartily recommended. For the ardent golf fiends, the suburban clubs offer the greenest of greens, and cool porches after eighteen strenuous holes. To those who leave us every June for the summer, may we make the feeble suggestion—"See Toledo first"?

The polo patrons will find many matches arranged for their pleasure during the summer months. Carranor Hunt and Polo Club opens the professional season in June with matches with the Grosse Point Country Club players. Polo fans, however, have had the opportunity to see the local players in several inter-club games. Polo has caught on with Toledoans and the 1926 season is anticipated by Toledo society.

THERE is a charming informality about summer entertaining. One table of bridge, a supper on the rocks or a motor trip to a nearby town for far famed food, means much to the summer Stay-at-home. Toledo and vicinity abounds in attractive picnic spots, and up-river hostesses are noted for their picnic suppers and informal lawn parties.

Rockledge Farm, the J. K. Secor estate, Horton Hall, the charming Perrysburg home of the Sidney Spitzers, the A. L. Spitzer country place where the Thomas Goodbods spend their summers, and the Carl Spitzer summer home are just a few of the numerous attractive estates where guest meets guest.

If one can't make Europe this year, and his yacht at Long Island is docked for the summer, why not cruise in a canoe on the Maumee?

SOCIETY

By Sally Ames

SOCIETY is quiescent once more after a hectic June whirl. Brides and horse-shows, teas and golf matches, farewell bridges and luncheons, all combined to make the past month one of super-activity.

The favorite topic of young, and not so young, for the past few months has not lost its appeal even yet, and Toledoans are still buzzing over the tea cups about our dazzling collection of June brides.

Surely it is difficult to remember when there have been so many charming and socially important weddings following each other in close sequence as in this June of 1926. It is rumored that a very contagious marriage germ is at large in Toledo's young "deb" colony, and that as yet all efforts to arrest it have been futile, perhaps because no one sincerely wants to stop it. At any rate this rapidly spreading epidemic is keeping society keyed up in a pleasurable state of excitement and suspense, and one of the new indoor sports is a speculative game of "Who will connect with whom—and how soon?"

We may now add to the list of young Toledo society matrons the names of Mrs. Lewis Bentley, Mrs. Arthur Lorenz Baker, Mrs. Linton Fallis, Mrs. Norman Foley, Mrs. William Nagel, Mrs. William Carr, and Mrs. Stanley Mauk. Mrs. Orville Leslie Jones, formerly Miss Jane Truesdall, has left us to reside in Wallace, Idaho. Mrs. Jones has been a popular member of Toledo society. Mrs. Donald Crandall nee Clapp, will take up the life of a naval officer's life in Seattle. The many friends of the former Virginia Rheinfrank, now Mrs. Norman Foley, will be interested to know that Dr. Foley is to take his internship under Dr. Rheinfrank at Perrysburg. "Jinno" and "Norm" had planned to live in Ann Arbor, but it will now be possible for them to reside in Perrysburg.

TO those who have never attended a military wedding, Peg Clapp and Don Crandell's was quite an innovation. Most of the ushers were classmates of Don's from Annapolis, and there was no question of "Button, button, who's got the button" at this affair—they all had them, thousands of gorgeous gold buttons running up and down their naval dress uniforms.

Our June brides proved themselves to have endurance qualities that a Dempsey might well envy. After a crowded series of day and evening entertainments, each one was fresh and blooming on her wedding day. It seemed that society could do scarcely enough to pay tribute to its popular members about to don the bridal veil, and those who were responsible for the "donning." Miss Lucy Mather's tea, June 10, Miss Gertrude Witker's buffet luncheon of the same date, the Misses Kathryn and Josephine Randolph's luncheon, June 14, Mrs. Charles Peckam's dinner dance at the Park Lane, June 14, Mr. James Bell's dinner dance, June 17, Mrs. Arthur Lorenz Baker's luncheon June 21, Mr. Gerald Baker's clever hobo party, June 21, and Mr. William Knight's dinner dance June 22, were only a few of the many pre-nuptial entertainments.

JUNE was also a gala month for Toledo florists. Flowers were imported from far and near, so great was the demand for the floral fairest for the fair. Bridal bouquets of orchids and lilies were hilariously hurled after every wedding, and damsels thrilled by the orange blossom atmosphere struggled to catch the floating flowers. Mary Campbell, a notable example of the old adage that the next to wed is she who catches the bridal bouquet, caught Hilda Grosh's gorgeous bridal cluster. Her engagement followed almost immediately, so seriously does she take her omens.

There is much interest in the announcement of the engagement of Miss Phylis Wendell Friend, to Mr. G. Mitchell Woodbury. The news was made known at an attractive dinner, given by Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Sampson at the Toledo Club, Saturday, June 12.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Francis Thomas have announced the engagement of their daughter Lucille, to Mr. Eben J. MacKenzie.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Leonard Briggs have announced the engagement of their daughter Dorothy Holmes, to C. Philip Hendrickson, son of Mr. Neil Hendrickson, New York.

TOLEDO's Horse Show was voted an overwhelming success, in spite of the apparent antagonism of the elements on the opening day. Perhaps the rain was a special order for those who had new and original "slickers," to intrigue the eye. The second day brought the record attendance however, and all society swarmed en masse to applaud the splendid showing in horsemanship of Toledo's many skilled riders. It was quite a cosmopolitan gathering of thoroughbreds which assembled for exhibition, as horses from all over the world were entered. Helen Lipe gave spectators a thrill by tumbling from her mount, but there is no evidence to show that she has missed a thing by it, as the sub-deb set of which she is a popular member is quite the life of Toledo society these days.

TOLEDO is developing quite a European colony, as well as being notably represented at Au Sable, Wequetonsing, Bass Rock, and other popular resorts. Those few who have elected to stay in our Lotus city all summer are sure of having a large and diversified collection of souvenir postcards at the end of the current season. Among those who have left us to seek the attractions in Europe are the Eugene Rheinfranks with their son and daughters, Lamson, Anne and Laura, Mr. R. J. West and son, James, Dr. and Mrs. O. W. Moot, Mr. Norman Hascall and son Norman, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Otto Marx, Mrs. Frederick Dodge, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Cady and daughter Suzanne, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Collins, Mrs. May King, Judge and Mrs. Silas Hurin, Mrs. C. D. Briggs, Miss Josephine Blair, Miss Mary Blair, Miss Betty Carr, Dr. and Mrs. I. E. McKesson, Mr. C. C. Whitmore, Miss Helen Whitmore, and the Misses Julia, Alice, and Matilda Campbell.

AND now it is adieu that must be bid to society's whirl of entertainments. For some the summer will mean a much needed rest, a coat of tan proudly acquired on the golf links, and some refreshing dips in one of the various club pools. To others it will mean the excitement of placing the wedding gifts in just the right spot in the shiny rooms of the "bride-and-groomey" home or apartment. For a fortunate number it will spell the magic word of "travel"—to see for the first time perhaps, the mysteries of the old world. But to all of us it will mean summer, and whether we drink our lemonade in Paris, France, or Paris, Illinois, it will be a vacation somewhere—sometime—and we welcome it.

JULY and August are always guest months, and were it not for the many charming informal entertainments honoring popular visitors, our social life would be indeed 'non est.' Summer romances bloom and flourish with the arrival, and alas, often fade with the exodus of the fair from far away.

There was much entertaining for Miss Prudence Hutchinson's guests, Miss Jeanne Holden of Bridgeport, Conn., and Miss Mary Brown of Easton, Penn. during their short stay. Miss Alice Hoehler's tea, Miss Helen Mascho's luncheon, Miss Virginia Falconer's tea, and Miss Marian Morse's luncheon were only a few of the complimentary parties for this popular pair.

Mable Jennings, of Green Farms, New York, who was one of the attendants at the Harrison-Baker wedding of April 28, returned again in July to be the guest of Marian Morse. Miss Jennings is well known in Toledo social circles, and her visit was one of interest.

MISS Barbara Jones of Evanston, Ill., was the house guest of Ruth Anderson for a week in July. Miss Anderson's bridge luncheon, Miss Virginia Kern's bridge tea, and Miss Sabra Newton's informal bridge, complimented this visitor.

Miss Rith Taylor, who came from New York, July 22, to be the guest of Miss Mary Paine in her home in Ottawa Hills, was the honored guest at Miss Dorothy's Kull's bridge luncheon at the Park Lane Hotel, July 27.

Proving that Toledo is a racy city, there was large attendance at the July races. Society turned in relief to this summer diversion, after an endless succession of bridges, teas, and luncheons. Among those noticed in boxes were Mr. and Mrs. George Stevens, Mrs. Thomas Goodbody, Mrs. Aaron Chesbrough, Mrs. J. W. Schauffelberger, Mrs. Edward Jamison, Mrs. George Mills, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lewis, and Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Dodge.

June brides and bridegrooms are becoming quite the conventional young married couples now. Wedding trips are over, and the young bride must turn her thoughts from honeymoons to honey dew melons and dainty dishes to tempt the summer appetite of her brand new husband.

Dotty and Bill Carr and Helen and Bill Nagel motored back from the east together, and have taken up their places in Toledo's social set. Jinno and Norman Foley are inviting friends to view their attractive home in Perrysburg, and from all reports it is a huge success.

An orange blossom atmosphere still lingers around our environs, and it will be long before all traces of it are gone.

THE Walbridges are having a family party at Bass Rock this summer. Mrs. S. C. Walbridge, her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Kinsey, and children, Mrs. Barnes Walbridge are holding forth together. Such a charming family should add much to any summer place.

The recent Women's District Golf Tournament at Inverness created a furore of interest in Toledo Society, as many of its popular members proved to be formidable opponents of entries from neighboring metropolises. Mrs. George Greenhalgh almost—well, we won't mention it who has recently returned from a winter in California.

MISS HELEN MASCHO

again, but anyway she almost did, and her many friends are saying, "Up and at 'em next year, Marie."

It was a brilliant assemblage of society maids and sports frocks that watched the exciting finals on the cool appearing Inverness greens. We refrain from mentioning that appearances of greens often prove deceptive.

Camps in the cool mountains of the east are luring away our subdeb set, and they are spending their summer dipping instead of debbing. Chesbrough and Nancy Lewis, Carolyn Cummings, Laura Lee Wilson and Nancy Newton, are but a few of those acquiring that camp girl complexion. Going to camp in the summer is such a wise idea. It gives one a companion winter diversion—counting the calories and applying lemon juice.

SOCIETY play boys have discovered a new swimming place; a most delicious stone quarry directly beyond Perrysburg. To be in the social swim, drive your chariot, or what have you to this secluded and exclusive spot on any of these entrancingly tepid evenings, and you will find a representative assemblage.

A letter from Mr. A. L. Spitzer who is summering in Paris, tells of intriguing activities. Mr. Spitzer is sailing for home sometime in August, and with his return Toledo is sure of some interesting entertainments.

For those who have the energy to even think about things social on these hot summer days, we will say that there is a faint suggestion of social life in our midst. The suggestion is so feeble, however, that we merely make the statement of its existence, and go to turn on the electric fan.

SEPTEMBER and October are proving popular months for brides, and in my mind it is the ideal season for a wedding. Cool days, gorgeous and colorful autumn foliage, seem almost more desirable than June roses.

Lorna Heinel starts the marriage ball rolling. Her marriage to Norman Walper will be an event of September 18, in the First Congregational Church.

Miss Heinel will have Miss Elaine Murphy, Riverside, Ill., for her maid-of-honor. Her bridesmaids will be Miss Eileen Walper, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Helen Walper, of Adrian, Michigan, a cousin of the bridegroom.

Mr. Walper will be attended by his brother, Mr. Richard Walper. The ushers will be Mr. Laurence Heinel, Mr. Carlton Quale, Mr. Claude Gordon, Mr. Robert Myers, Mr. Joseph Wilbur, and Mr. Wynn Gibson, of Adrian. The wedding will be followed by a reception at the Toledo Woman's Club.

The marriage of Esther Hackedorne to William Watson, Saturday evening, September 25, will be an attractive wedding of social importance.

Miss Hackedorne will be attended by her sister, Mrs. Dudley Marshal Pattie 3rd of Kansas City, as matron-of-honor, Miss Alice Anderson, maid-of-honor, and Miss Elizabeth Watson, sister of the bride-groom, and Miss Madelyn Hagerty, bridesmaids.

Mr. Watson will have Mr. James Ezra Kirk as best man. The ushers will be, Mr. Kenneth Snedecor, Trowbridge Stanley Ernest Linwood Davis, Robert Draper, of Detroit, William Draper and Donald Brown of New York.

The marriage will be solemnized in the Epworth Methodist Episcopal Church, the Dr. Stephen Mahon officiating, assisted by Dr. R. Lincoln Long.

Following the ceremony there will be a small reception at the Toledo Club.

The wedding of Alice Gasser and Trowbridge Stanley comes next, on Thursday evening, Oct. 7, and will be solemnized in the First Congregational Church, Dr. Allen Stockdale officiating.

Miss Irene Broer will be the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids will be the Misses Carol and Eleanor Gasser, sisters of the bride.

Mr. Stanley will have his brother, Robert Stanley as best man.

There will be a small reception for the close friends of the attractive young couple immediately after the ceremony, at the home of the bride.

The marriage of Ruth Adams and Jack Reeder will be an event of Thursday evening, Oct. 21, in the home of the bride.

Miss Adams will have as her only attendant, Mrs. Willard Adams.

Mr. Reeder will have Mr. Thomas Whipple as best man.

The ceremony, which will be one of charming simplicity will be followed by a small reception.

ANOTHER October wedding of interest, the date of which has not been announced yet, will be that of Miss Phyllis Friend, and Mr. Mitchell Woodbury.

Miss Roxena Hassett will become the bride of Ward Durell late in October.

Hagerty and Everett Hull came as rather a surprise. Madeline had kept it such a secret that even her closest friends were in ignorance of the interesting news until the attractive announcement bridge given by Helen Moules. The marriage will be an event of the early fall.

Toledo is anxious to meet Mrs. John Mauk, the brand new bride of Sept. 1. Mr. and Mrs. Clinton A. Mauk, Miss Catherine Mauk, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Mauk, the latter herself a recent charming addition to Toledo's social set, attended the nuptials in Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Toledo were not at home during August. Social life was at a standstill during their absence, the recent City Golf Tournament being the only ripple in the social sea. Society faithfully followed the shots of its favorites over knolls and bunkers, even though Old Sol shone his most devastating rays.

Of course there are always those who prefer to remain by their own fan-sides, and these few struggled valiantly to keep our summer colony from becoming entirely dormant socially. Inverness, Country Club, and the Yacht Clubs all drew their weekly coteries, while Cañanor offered an occasional polo match.

Now with the coming of September, the social sun will rise and shine again. There will be farewell parties for those who are still in pursuit of education, and welcome home bridges and dinners for those who have been "Europeanized." Though September sees many Toledoans returning, it is also the month of leave-takings and homesick pangs for many Toledo sons and daughters. The attractive looking campus and pennant bedecked rooms of the catalogue take on a new aspect before tear dimmed, homesick eyes, and after being spurned for cooler spots all summer, our fair city is promoted, and becomes Paradise in the minds of those who leave her.

SUMMER'S social aftermath—the get-together after the long vacation—is always interesting. So much can happen in two months at the sea-side, mountain, or sojourning spot. There will be luncheons, bridges, and dinners galore, as soon as the youth of the city is outfitted and back at studies. Yes, indeed, on every side one hears murmurings of plans for the fall and winter social season, which would indicate that after the summer lull Toledo society will come into its own with an entertaining bang.

There was much interest among Toledo Society in the Flower Show, held Friday evening, August 27, in the Chamber of Commerce. Mrs. James Secor was in charge of the decoration of a table for the Flower guild, and Mrs. George Greenhalgh turned her attention from golf to flowers for the evening, and also had a table.

Among those exhibiting were Mrs. H. L. Thompson, and her daughter, Peggy, Mr. and Mrs. George Ross Ford, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Knight, Mrs. J. K. Secor, and Mrs. Thomas Tracy.

The general chairman of the show was Mrs. Elwood Allen.

Society has been going to the dogs—which, however, is nothing to be concerned about. The dogs in this case are particularly clever ones whose aims in life are to beat another set of dogs to a given place. In other words the Greyhound Races have attracted large gatherings of masculine and feminine spectators nightly, and have proved an interesting August innovation.

We wonder what has become of the formal coming out parties, debutante teas, and "bud" dinners. There are so many attractive members of the young social set about ready to take their places in its activities. Surely they are worthy of an impressive presentation.

AND still they come—these brides of fall! Never has Toledo been able to anticipate such a galaxy of charming and socially important nuptials in the season of many colors.

The marriage of Lorna Heinel and Norman Walper was a brilliant event of September 18, and while Toledo was playing homage to this popular pair, Gladys Wannamaker and Howard Omer Trotter were stealing a march (a wedding march) on us, and were quietly married, surprising all of their friends with the subsequent announcement.

Esther Hackedorne and William Watson have also finished this business of tying the elusive knot. Their wedding was a charming event of September 25.

September weddings were but a mere forecast of the multitudes of fall marriages in the offing. Christine Russell and William Robertson will be married October 2 at 4 p. m. at the Toledo Club.

The marriage of Alice Gasser and Trowbridge Stanley will be an important spot in the month's wedding calendar, and will be solemnized Thursday evening, October 7. We hear that the gowns of the bridal party are very stunning and unique.

Phyllis Friend and Mitchell Woodbury will be married on Thursday, October 21, at 4:30 p. m. in the First Congregational Church, the Rev. Allen Stockdale officiating. Mrs. Theodore Sampson will be matron of honor, Miss Eunice Mitchell will be maid of honor and Mr. Dwight Haigh will be best man. The ushers will be: Parker Campbell, Robert Mitchell, Jack Ottenheimer, Theodore Sampson. Their wedding will be one of great beauty and social importance.

The marriage of Ruth Adams and Jack Reeder will be a quiet event of October 21 in the home of the bride. Society is much interested in the nuptial plans of Madelyn Hagerty and Everett Hull. Their marriage will be solemnized Wednesday evening, October 27, in First Congregational Church, the Rev. Allen Stockdale officiating.

Miss Hagerty has chosen Miss Helyn Moules for her maid-of-honor, and Mrs. William Watson, a recent bride, for her matron-of-honor. Miss Margaret Weadock of Palm Beach, Florida, and Miss Joella Moore, of Charleston, Missouri, will be brides-maids.

Mr. Arthur MacKinstry will attend Mr. Hull as best-man. The ushers will be Russell Webster, Ralph Connor, Harold Conner, Coe Browning, and James Brailey, Jr.

The marriage of Roxena Hassett and Ward Dorrell will be solemnized October 30, at 4:30 p. m., in the First Unitarian Church, the Reverend R. Lincoln Long officiating. Mr. Harry Hassett will give his sister in marriage. Mr. Joseph Willis will attend Mr. Dorrell as best man. The ushers will be Messrs. Marvin Rorick, Reuben Bigelow, Richard Harrison, and Raymond Miller.

A FALL announcement of social significance was that of the engagement of Dorothy Kull, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Kull, to Russell Williams.

The news was made known at an attractive tea, September 2, given by Miss Mary Paine in her Ottawa Hills Home.

We loved the subtle way in which the announcement was made, tiny heart shaped candies being passed around bearing the names of Dorothy and Russell. No wedding date has been set as yet.

Mrs. Lyman Kalmbach, formerly Marie Hagener walked right into a round of complimentary entertainments upon her return to Toledo after her recent marriage.

MISS Eleanor Pew's luncheon, Miss Virginia Kirtland's bridge, Mrs. Austin Deibert's bridge tea, Miss Catherine Oeschler's bridge luncheon, Dr. and Mrs. Norman Foley's and Miss Eleanor Pew's dinner at Carranor, and Miss Ruth Hauck's bridge at the Sylvania Golf Club were a few of the many affairs planned for Mrs. Kalmbach.

There were numerous attractive entertainments for Miss Dorothy Morgan of Cleveland, Ohio, during her Toledo visit as the guest of Miss Betty Lipe. Miss Morgan was one of the most popular late summer visitors.

The James Bentleys created a stir in Toledo's social life with a series of cleverly appointed dinners. There were also many complimentary parties for the Eugene Rheinfrank's upon their return from Europe.

All of the Toledo transients are home once more to enliven our social life. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hixon, Mrs. Isaac Kinsey and children, Mrs. Phelps Berdan, Miss Margery Bigelow, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Mennel, Mrs. William Baker, and Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Manning have migrated from Middle Bass.

MRS. S. O. RICHARDSON 3rd, Mrs. Joseph Robinson, and Mrs. Kenneth Brown, have bid adieu to the Au Sable. Mrs. Sinclair Walbridge and children are receiving at home again, having come from Harbor Point, Michigan. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Feilbach, and daughter, Virginia, have returned from Gratiot Inn, Port Huron, Michigan. Mrs. Frederick Bates, and daughter, Dorothy, have returned from Deer Isle, Maine.

Mr. A. L. Spitzer, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Rheinfrank, and son Lamson, and daughters Laura and Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Horton Rorick, Mrs. Charles Abbott, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert West, and son James, Mrs. E. H. Cady, and daughter Sue, and Miss Olive Kirkby, are popular Toledoans back from Europe.

Everyone is glad to see Margaret Gosline McKelvey driving around Toledo streets again, and it is an added pleasure to know that the McKelvies will be here permanently. Mrs. McKelvey and small daughter spent the summer with Mrs. W. A. Gosline at Bass Rock, Massachusetts.

WHILE the young married set is back together again after diversified summer vacations, Toledo's younger clique is being widely scattered with the return of most of its favorite members to prep schools and college.

Smith is unusually lucky in receiving a large quota, the Misses Harriet Hamilton, Prudence and Helen Hutchinson, Ruth Anderson, Margaret Thomas, Eleanor Pew, Jane Dice, and Helen Jones having left us.

Vassar rates the Misses Betty Carr, Josephine Blair, and Lydia Spitzer.

The Misses Esther and Mabel Kirkbride, Helen Harsh, and Corene Tiffany have entered Wellesley.

Miss Helen Mascho has started her final year at Wells. The Misses Eileen Walper, Phylis Damschroder, and Sabra Newton represent Toledo at Goucher.

The Misses Frances Curson and Eleanor Schroeder have gone to Sullins College.

The Misses Eleanor and Dorothy Woodrow, and Alice Kirkbride will be nearer home, having chosen Michigan as their temple of learning.

Margaret Hiatt, Charlote Winery, Gracia Gear, Jane Moore, Pauline Payne, and Hilda Harpster have are continuing their studies at Sweet Briar.

Virginia Blair and Rachel Carr have gone to Westover. Nancy Jane and Chesbrough Lewis have left for Miss Spence's School; Mary Jane Wright has entered Penn Hall, and Betty Lipe Briarcliff.

Elizabeth Summers has gone to National Park Seminary. Page Lewis has gone abroad to school, and Laura Lee Wilson is continuing at Knox School.

YALE seems to be first choice of Toledo men, boasting such entrants as Gerald Baker, Junior Hiatt, Milton Knight, Horton Spitzer, James Bell and Oscar Foster.

Chester Hanson and Myron Lomasney form the Harvard delegation. Joseph and Paul Harsch, James Hodge, Jr. and Harold Goodboy are holding up the William's interests. Lyman Brewer returned to Amherst.

Edward Mauck, Charles Bohnengel, Thad Taylor, Barton Dempsey, Kenyon Eberth, and Roy Atherholt have gone to Kenyon.

KIRTLAND HARSCH has entered to Cornell. Among the universities, Michigan seems to be the favorite. Carter Stewart, Carlton Champe, Dalton Walper, Carl Fauster, Henry Applegate, Allen Owen, George Bradley, Franklin Quale, Clarence Witker, George Neukom, Don Farnam, James Wilson, and Robert Falconer have gone to Michigan.

Edward Knight, George Ford, Denison Welles, Robert Stewart and Redfield Beckwith are attending Hotchkiss Prep School. Lyman Goodbody has returned to Kent.

Just by way of encouragement for our Junior set, which so dreaded the fall exodus to school; the season is but a short one, and only a brief prologue to the holiday play. With summer over, 'tis a quick leap to the Christmas frivolities. Already tongues are buzzing about the Bachelor's Ball, the piece de resistance of holiday gaieties. IN the past few weeks, Toledo has entertained everyone but the Queen of Roumania, and we fervently proclaim that not even this illustrious personage could have been more royally feted than some of the charming fall visitors, brides-elect, and ex-Toledoans back for a few choice Lotus-City flings. Personally, we would vote the Queen lacking in discrimination when she passed up Toledo's tempting possibilities, and completely ignored us in her itinerary. Can it be she has heard of our Union Station!

Miss Dorothy Wadleigh, who was Miss Suzanne Cady's guest, came at a most important time, for it was during her stay that one of the most significant fall announcements was made.

At a charmingly appointed dinner at the Country Club, given by Miss Gertrude Witker ostensibly for Miss Wadleigh, the announcement of the engagement of Miss Cady and Mr. Benjamin Wilson was made. The news came as a surprise to the friends of the young people.

Among the many entertainments for Miss Wadleigh, were the Mr. and Mrs. George Freeman, Jr. dinner Oct. 15, which also complimented Mrs. DeWitt Clinton Baker who was a guest in the Freeman home, Miss Lucy Mather's tea, Mrs. B. F. Wade's luncheon, Miss Irene Broer's luncheon, Miss Cady's bridge luncheon, the Misses Josephine and Katharine Randolph's bridge luncheon, and Mrs. Mae King's luncheon.

Mrs. Pennell Hixon who came back for a stay with Toledo friends was an incentive for much entertaining.

Mrs. Leland Gardner, who was a guest in the Carlton Baumgardner home, also added much zest to the dates in Toledo's social calendar.

Mr. and Mrs. Collord Acklin's supper party, Friday, Oct. 15, complimented Mrs. Gardner, and the Acklin's house guests, Mr. and Mrs. Gilmore Ouerbacher, of Louisville, Ky., and Mr. James Hemphiel of Chicago.

On the week-end of Oct. 16, Society sought its diversion in Ann Arbor, watching the husky Maize and Blue warriors humble the Minnesota eleven in conclusive fashion. Mr. and Mrs. Ceilan Rorick, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Rorick, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Baumgardner, Mr. and Mrs. George Pope MacNichol, Jr., Mrs. Leland Gardner, Mrs. Pennell Hixon, Mr. and Mrs. Collord Acklin and guests, Mr. and Mrs. James Secor, Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hixon, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kinsey, Jr., Mr. Rhodes Berdan and Mr. George Secor.

One of the loveliest affairs of the current season was the tea given by Mrs. C. A. Mauk and Miss Katharine Mauk, Oct. 13, for Mrs. John Mauk and Mrs. Stanley Mauk, recent brides. Already these young matrons are proving popular new members of Toledo society, and the Mauk brothers have been voted young men of rare judgement.

IT is almost time for Mr. S. Claus, and his custom-built sly, (Body by North Pole) to appear. And is Toledo anticipating! The date for the Bachelor's Ball has been set for December 27. It is to be a Movie Masque, which sounds very intriguing. Think of all our embryonic John Gilberts, Harry Langdons, Gloria Swansons, and Louise Fazenda's . . . It should prove a revelation, and Mr. Sennett would do well to send out his most discriminating scouts on that eventful night. Messrs. Edward Young, George Secor, John Berdan, Max Bergin, Walter Lathrop, Duane Stranahan, and James Bentley are in charge of arrangements.

TRULY it is a glorious season, this bit of fall. Local color galore, football, and racoon coats, pink cheeks, and red noses, cider and friedcakes . . . are merely a small portion of the joys to follow with the advent of the winter snows and frivolities. Sororities and Fraternities are busy with plans for unique Yuletide entertainments. We have behind us the thrills of the 1926 Halloween.
