HOW TO USE THIS BOOK

Take this book with you when you plan your day trips, scenic drives & long weekend trips throughout the 21 counties of Northwest Ohio represented in this book. The book is designed to be used throughout the 2026-2027 calendar years. The third edition will be published in spring 2026. A PDF of this passport is available on the Northwest Ohio Cultural Heritage Group's website at <https://sites.google.com/view/nwochg/home> and on the Toledo's Attic website at <https://toledosattic.org/images/pdfs/passport3.pdf>, and can be printed on regular 8 ½" x 11" printer paper. Optional stamping may be available at some participating institutions: Just ask 😊!

THE NORTHWEST OHIO CULTURAL HERITAGE GROUP

The Northwest Ohio Cultural Heritage Group (NWOCHG), formed in 2019, as a way for cultural heritage institutions in the northwest corner of the state to collaborate on potential projects as a whole, rather than disparate parts. Meeting twice a year (in the spring & in the fall) either virtually or at the various member locations, it consists of public libraries, academic libraries, special libraries, historical societies, museums, historical villages, presidential centers, and genealogical societies throughout Northwest Ohio. For more information on how to join the NWOCHG or be a participant in this passport, email nwochg@gmail.com.

AMERICA 250

The Northwest Ohio Cultural Heritage Group will celebrate America's 250th anniversary with a number of events and activities at locations listed throughout the 2026-27 edition of this Passport. Although Ohio was not among the original colonies that gained independence from Great Britain in 1776, it had been a part of what became known as the Northwest Territory as established in 1787 by the Continental Congress. Ohio had been home for hundreds of years to Native American groups, such as the Shawnee, Delaware, Wyandot, and Ottawa. Ohio statehood came on March 1, 1803, and was a pathway to the new country's westward expansion. The museums, libraries, archives, and historical societies that comprise the Northwest Ohio Cultural Heritage Group have preserved and continue to promote the history of this region. We invite you to learn more about the region and America. Additional America-250 information can be found on the following websites:

Wyandot County Historical Society
Wyandot County Museum
 130 S. Seventh St., Upper Sandusky, OH 43351
 Phone: 419-294-3857 (museum)
 Email: curator@wyandothistory.org
 Website: <http://www.wyandothistory.org>
 Contact: Ronald Marvin, Jr. (Director), 443-510-5162 (cell)

Hours: Fri.-Sun., 1-4:30pm, first weekend in May-mid-Dec.; Other dates and times by appointment

The museum, a historic home built in 1853 for Isaac Beery and his wife, Leefe Fowler, was donated to the Wyandot County Historical Society by their grandson, former Sears, Roebuck & Co. President and C.E.O. Fowler Beery McConnell, and his wife, Lucille in June 1962. Decorated to illustrate the late 1800s, it holds many artifacts and documents relating to the history of Wyandot County, its inhabitants, businesses, famous residents, and the Wyandotte Nations citizens. The property also includes the one-room Maple Grove Schoolhouse, Outhouse, and Pennsylvania Railroad Shack.

Overland Inn

283 N. SR 53, McCutchenville, OH 44844
 Website: https://www.wyandothistory.org/?page_id=4

Hours: 1-4:30 pm, First Sat./Sun., May-Sept. Other dates and times by appointment

Colonel Joseph McCutchen built the Overland Inn, located in McCutchenville, Ohio, in 1829. The structure served as a stagecoach stop, hotel and an apartment building. It was purchased by the Wyandot County Archaeological and Historical Society in 1964, restored to its stagecoach era appearance and dedicated in 1967. Located along SR 53 (formerly the Plank Road or Harrison Trail), it is one of only two stagecoach inns remaining in their original location in the state of Ohio. It is furnished with antiques donated by Wyandot County residents and retains the original reception and bar room where travelers such as Charles Dickens and General William Henry Harrison visited.

Hours: Feb.-Dec. Guided one-hour tours through the home. See website for tours.

Thomas Alve Edison, inventor of the phonograph, the incandescent light bulb, and many other devices that make our lives fuller and simpler, was born in Milan, OH, in 1847. Edison Birthplace Museum was opened by his wife, Mina, and his daughter, Madeleine, as a tribute to the humble beginnings of a great man. It features a collection of rare Edisonia, including examples of many of Edison's early inventions, documents, and family mementos. Maintained by the Edison Birthplace Association, Inc., this National Historic Site is the only Edison site to have family involved including great-grandchildren, a great-great-great-great niece on the Board and a great-great-great nephew as President.

Fremont, originally known as Lower Sandusky, began as a village of Wyandot Indian natives. In the 1750s, the French constructed a fur trading post. During the War of 1812, the U.S. Army built a military post, known as Fort Stephenson, where the Birchard Public Library now stands. Sandusky County (1820) was originally part of territory set aside for Ohio's Indian people by the Treaty of Greenville. (Citizens named the county after an Indian term for "at the cold water.") The Sandusky County Historical Society was formed in 1874. Among its founders was Rutherford B. Hayes, the 19th President of the United States, who served as the Society's first secretary. Stop by to see the many artifacts on display and let the history tell you its story through this self-guided exploration of days gone by.

Huron County Community Library offers services, programs and collections benefiting all ages, including books, ebooks, DVDs, computers, WiFi, faxing, copying, laminating, help with e-readers/tablets, Golden Buckeye card applications, voter registrations and absentee ballot applications. When it opened, the main library, dedicated to the memory of servicemen and those who died in WWI, was housed on the second floor of the Willard City Hall. In the 1930s the Ohio General Assembly passed legislation which established the Willard Memorial Library as a school district library. It was given county extension status in 1935 to service any area of the county not already served by a library. The present library building opened April 4, 1965. The addition to the original building was dedicated April 2, 1995. A bond levy passed in 2014, and renovations began in 2015 to update and redesign the Willard Memorial Library.

Fallen Timbers Battlefield National Historic Site
4949 Jerome Road, Maumee, OH 43537

The Fallen Timbers Battlefield National Historic Site is the serene and pristine site of one of the top three battlefields in the United States, saved from development by preservation efforts spearheaded by the Fallen Timbers Battlefield Preservation Commission. In the 1794 Fallen Timbers Campaign, General Anthony Wayne led the U.S. Legion, Kentucky Militia and Choctaw and Chickasaw Tribes against a Native confederation of tribes led by Chiefs Blue Jacket, Little Turtle and Tarhe, among others, and British/Canadian Militia. The final battle took place near present-day Maumee, OH on Aug. 20, 1794, and the Legion forces prevailed, leading to the signing of the Treaty of Greenville and bringing peace to the Ohio frontier that would last for over a decade.

Fort Miamis National Historic Site
4010 Michigan Street, Maumee, OH 43537

The Fort Miamis National Historic Site is the location of a British fort built on the banks of the Maumee River just prior to the Battle of Fallen Timbers in August 1794. The fort was besieged by General Anthony Wayne and his forces following the Battle, leading to a historic stand-off with British forces trapped inside. The Fort was also instrumental to British/Native forces in the siege of Fort Meigs during the War of 1812. Portions of the earthworks that supported the fort are still present today.

Fallen Timbers Monument Site

Fort Recovery Museum & Monument

An Ohio History Connection site.
1 Fort Site Street, PO Box 533, Fort Recovery, OH 45846
Phone: 419- 375 4649

Hours: May, Sat./Sun., 11am-4pm; June-Aug., Wed.-Sun., 11am-4pm Sept. & Oct., Sat./Sun., 11am-4pm (Closed all federal holidays)

Fort Recovery is the site of 2 remarkable Northwest Indian War battles: the 1791 victory of 9 American Indian tribes, led by Mihšihkinaahkwa (Little Turtle, Miami) and Weyapiersenwah (Blue Jacket, Shawnee) over General Arthur St. Clair's forces; and the 1794 victory of General Anthony Wayne's army over a larger alliance of American Indian tribes. These events were pivotal in setting the stage for the 1795 Treaty of Greenville, after which American Indians relinquished most of their land holdings in Ohio. And set the course for the 1830 Indian Removal Act, which forcibly removed American Indians from their Ohio homelands.
